

CARMEL LIMESTONE

Carmel Limestone is a natural wall cladding stone characterized by its soft, creamy white to light beige tones, interspersed with occasional warm golden and rust-colored patches. The surface has a rough, split-face texture that adds a rustic, organic appeal. The stones are irregular in shape and size, creating a natural, mosaic-like pattern when laid out. This type of limestone exudes a timeless, Mediterranean charm, making it ideal for both interior and exterior applications seeking a warm, earthy aesthetic.
